

COURSE OUTLINE

Upon completion of this course you will be able to:

1. Define dangerous goods
2. Identify the 9 hazard classes of dangerous goods
3. Understand where the regulations originate and who the key players are
4. Main Regulation changes for 2005 & 2006, including the transition from Risk Groups to the new Categories, all changes to packing instructions
5. Understand the new "Exempt" category and whether this applies to your samples
6. Classify a shipment as an Infectious substance, Genetically Modified Micro-organism, Diagnostic Specimens/Biological Substance Category B
7. Mark and label a shipment of dangerous goods
8. Follow a packing instruction
9. Apply State and Operator Variations
10. Utilize the alphabetical list of Dangerous Goods
11. Define and apply special provisions
12. Utilize correct UN Specification packaging
13. Complete the shipper's declaration for dangerous goods
14. Know when to use an overpack and how to mark, label and document it
15. Utilize an acceptance checklist to confirm a shipment is suitable for transport
16. Apply safe handling procedures
15. Know who is required to be trained and when